Plans Crystalize For Locating of Southern Branch Near This City

A very important meeting of the joint committee having the University site matter in charge was held in Pasadena Wednesday night with more than forty representatives from various communities and organizations present. Mr. J. B. Coulston, chairman of this committee, entertained the members at dinner. Mr. Coulston had just returned from a two days session with the regents of the university at Berkeley and his report of his meetings with the regents aroused the greatest enthusiasm as it became apparent that Pasadena could be fairly assured that her location would be accepted if properly presented at the final meeting on March 10.

Mr. Coulston had made plain to the regents that in accepting Pasadena's offer they not only obtained a wonderful site but that they would have the use of the Rose Bowl, the old Tournament of Roses Stadium and the advantages of the new public library until the university should be able to complete such facilities of their own. He even assured them that it would be possible to give them the Mt. Lowe observatory for their classes if desired. No other city can equal that.

Chance for Hastings Site

Mr. Coulston stated that they had not entirely abandoned hope of securing the Hastings ranch for the site. The attorney general of California has been consulted as to the legality of a clause being inserted in the deed that would protect Mr. Hastings' other holdings in the degree he has stated was essential before he would sell. The attorney's ruling will be received today.

The enthusiasm reached a still higher pitch at the announcement that Mr. Huntington had decided that rather than see Pasadena lose the university he would sell 160 acres at San Marino for the site if the Hastings ranch could not be secured. Mr. Huntington has been reluctant to part with any of his land as he has other well defined plans actually in course of development in connection with the library which is to be given to the public on his death. However, his sense of civic pride and duty is such that he is willing to sacrifice his personal plans to the extent necessary that the university shall not go elsewhere for lack of a site.

The Huntington Site

The site of the present university at Berkeley comprises 142 acres and plans adopted several years ago allow for doubling the present capacity within this area, therefore the 160 acres at San Marino would be ample for the needs of the Southern Branch. This site is, at its farthest point, only five and one-third miles from Sierra Madre station—19 minutes running time on Pacific Electric.

Mr. Coulston mentioned that many of the buildings and other improvements at Berkeley have been paid for with private donations, in fact, one project under way at the present time, which is to cost two millions, is a gift to the university. Therefore the regents are only following a well established precedent in asking for a free site for the Southern Branch.

Competing Offers

Fullerton is putting over a bond issue to pay for the site that city is offering. Beverly Hills has the deed already in escrow for a free site she offers, and Burbank has almost completed arrangements for her deed. Therefore, Mr. Coulston stated, he must have positive assurance that he would have the support of the surrounding communities if he made the offer of a free site from Pasadena. The committee agreed that the financing of either the Hastings ranch or the Huntington site should be a San Gabriel valley responsibility and that a district to vote the necessary bonds should be formed at once. The representative from Alhambra was solidly behind either proposition—they preferred the Huntington site but would vote bonds for either. Michillinda, Arcadia, and Monrovia, as well as Sierra Madre, pledged support through their representatives, as did the Lions and Kiwanis clubs of Pasadena, the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Gabriel valley, and many other organizations. Franklin Thomas of California Institute of Technology, City Manager, Kofner of Pasadena and Dr. R. A. Millikan were among those making enthusiastic speeches.

Thursday attorneys of the cities of the San Gabriel valley met to discuss the best method of forming a district to issue the necessary bonds. As so great an extent of territory will be involved, including the city of Pasadena, the total amount this city will be required to pay will amount to but little. In the opinion of the committees from the chamber of commerce and the Woman's club who have been working hard ever since the suggestion of a site in this vicinity was made, and who have represented this city at the joint committee meetings, the benefits to be derived from the university, located at either site, so far overbalances the small sum this city would pay, that Sierra Madre should cast a unanimous vote for the necessary bonds.

Protests Are The Order Of Evening

At the beginning of the council meeting Thursday night it looked like the session would be taken up by protests. Three separate groups of protesters were present but the meeting passed with a little or no excitement. The first proposal which had been protested to come before the board was the request for a permit to enlarge the Bassett & Washburn palm nursery.

The nursery wished to add a three and one-half acre house to the one already built and after agreeing to beautify the surroundings and observe setback regulations the protests were withdrawn.

A protest was filed regarding the improvement of Victoria Lane and after some discussion was referred to the city engineer for checking. The protest seemed to be more against the specifications in the improvements than in the improvements themselves.

The third protest was lodged by a group of property owners in the district to be assessed for the extension of Montecito from Lima to Sunnyside. The matter was continued till March 12, until this could be determined.

A petition was presented asking for sidewalks along Mountain Trail from Central to Mira Monte, to be put in by an assessment of the property. The petition was circulated by Louis D. Berg of the chamber of commerce. Norm Morrison filed a request for the erection of a steel gas station at the corner of Montecito and Baldwin avenue.

NOVEL PLAN IS ADOPTED FOR A TURKEY DINNER

The most unusual dinner on record for Sierra Madre is that planned for next Thursday night, March 5, in the Woman's club house. It is to be a community affair under the auspices of the Congregational church.

Plates will be $1.50 each and worth it. Turkeys enough for a crowd of any size have been donated by one individual, the rental of the club house by another, and various other items by other folk, so that the proceeds from the dinner will be clear profit. This will be applied to the wiping out of a small indebtedness so that the slate will be clear in case the church decides to undertake a campaign for a new church building. The latter question will be decided at a special meeting Sunday morning, March 8.

There will be no solicitation of funds at this dinner for the new church or any other purpose, the evening being devoted to entertainment and fellowship with a program well worth any one's time. Tickets for the dinner will be on sale at Hartman's drug store and may be obtained from a number of other people.

FRITZ OTTO OPENS BAKERY

Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Otto, who recently sold the Garvanza bakery after successfully operating it for five years, have leased the bakery shop on Windsor Lane and will be open for business Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Otto are especially well pleased with their location and the fine old brick oven which is installed there.

They expect to carry in stock a full line of bread, cakes and pastry, including coffee cake and Mocha tarts, which are made from the old fashioned German recipe which is so hard to find in modern bakeries.

Sierra Madre Was Host to Honor Court

The regular monthly meeting of District Four, Court of Honor, Boy Scouts of the Pasadena Council, was held at the Parish house of the Episcopal church, Sierra Madre, on Monday evening. More than 50 scouts came from outside troops to attend the session, in addition to the boys from Troops One and Two, of this city. Robert Mitchell presided as president of the district court. Mr. Mitchell was assisted by Field Executive Brundage, from staff headquarters, and by committeemen from the Monrovia troops. There were several visitors, and a large number of applications for merit badges were presented by scouts and other badges given, among these being an eagle badge to a scout from Troop Four, of Monrovia.

As an entertaining feature, Bobby Mitchell was present and played two numbers on the piano, much to the enjoyment of the large number of scouts assembled.

Appropriate speeches were made in awarding the merit badges to the scouts, the large number of these giving ample evidence of the enthusiasm manifested in the troops along merit winning lines. At the conclusion of the session stunts were put on by troops Three and Four of Monrovia. Taps were blown, the pledge repeated, and the benediction given as a finale to the meeting, which was pronounced one of the best ever held in the district. The Parish house, with its artistic setting, made a most appropriate place to hold the honor court.

Science Talk On Sunday by Judge Greene

Once a year the Christian Science Society brings to Sierra Madre a well known speaker who is prepared to explain the general scope and spirit of Science in a manner interesting not only to members but to the general public as well. This year they have been fortunate to secure Judge Samuel W. Greene of Louisville, Kentucky. He will speak at the church, corner of Highland and Hermosa, next Sunday evening, March 1, at 8 o'clock.

Judge Greene is a member of the board of lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. He has spoken in all parts of the country on the subject. He has a clear manner of presentation which enables his hearers to follow him without difficulty even though he may cover a field of thought entirely new to them. Members of the Society also find interest and encouragement in his presentation. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone by the members of the local church.

SIERRA MADRE COUPLE MARRIED AT SANTA ANA

Mrs. Elizabeth Scott and Harvey Steinberger were married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steinberger in Santa Ana, Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock, Rev. Dr. Porter officiating. No guests were present except the hosts of the party who acted as best man and matron of honor. Mrs. L. E. Steinberger served a luncheon to the bridal party at noon before they left Sierra Madre.

Mrs. Scott has lived in Sierra Madre for about three years and is a sister of Mrs. W. E. Doty. During her residence here she has built up a large circle of friends who unite in extending their best wishes and congratulating the groom on his choice.

Mr. Steinberger has lived in Sierra Madre since childhood. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Steinberger and a brother of the other Steinbergers of this city. He has been in the concrete contracting business for several years and has succeeded in building up a thriving business. He was last seen by his friends as a member of the baby star chorus in the Rompers revue, but it is a well known fact that his wedding was not the outcome of a stage flirtation.

Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Jackson returned Wednesday from the beach, where they have been spending a short vacation.

Walter Garey of El Centro, county auditor of Imperial county, visited this week at the home of his sister, Mrs. L. M. Rice, of 477 N. Baldwin avenue.

Pony Chorus Prances and Rompers Romp to Applause of Crowd at 1925 Revue

"The Rompers of 1925" is history, and history which will live long in the memories of the people of Sierra Madre who witnessed the performances of the show. The event has occupied the attention of a large number of Eastern Star members and friends for several weeks but from every standpoint the effort was justified in the results. The annual vaudeville revue stood the hardest test of all tests for amateur performances and won the plaudits of strangers and home folks alike.

The revue was headed by Mrs. J. Milton Steinberger, director, and DeWitt Jones, assistant director. They were supported by a corps of assistants, most of whom did not make their appearance behind the footlights but were nevertheless responsible for the success of the show. Included in this list are Mrs. Maude Rogers, who acted as accompanist for the dancers daily for several weeks; Victor Hill, who used his time, ingenuity and energy in building scenery and creating effects on a stage which persistently refused to lend itself to the spirit of the occasion; Mrs. Agnes Tyree, who worked hard but not in vain as property woman, and Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Waggoner, who worked at everything from shifting scenes to reading parts at rehearsals, and a large number of ladies of the Eastern Star who worked in the dressing rooms and made costumes for the chorus numbers as well as a number of odd jobs which could not be catalogued.

The scenery was the result of the efforts of Harold Roberts and George Hapgood, who worked for several days in painting scenery and arranging effects. The stage was managed by Victor Hill and Raymond Andrews. The scenery, which was made for the occasion, will be kept for Rompers of the future. Guy Steinberger was in charge of the lighting. Miss Marjorie Thomas arranged the dance numbers and trained the chorus.

New Order Started

The opening number of the program was Donald C. Ashmore, introducing himself as master of ceremonies. Mr. Ashmore then proceeded to organize the Knockers Club and declared himself elected to the high position of "Most Unholy Knocker," after which he proceeded to amuse the audience throughout the remainder of the show, at times when the changing of scenery was in progress.

The show proper opened with the Pony Ballet, "Follow the Swallow," with Miss Marjorie Thomas doing the solo part supported by a chorus. The chorus personnel was Viola Fennel, Beatrice Stevenson, Marie Jenkins, Margaretta Bains, Beulah Nelson, Betty Moore, Jeanetta Yerxa. The girls were dressed in clever ballet costumes and on the encore carried balloons, which they threw to the audience at the close of their act.

Black Face Artists

Closed on the heels of the chorus, as it were, came the Burnt Cork screw quartet, with C. Hall Perry as first tenor, Clarence Noshier, second tenor; Randolph Wood, baritone, and J. N. Hawks, bass. As suggested by the name, the faces of these comedians were of sombre hue, although their clothing was anything else but. The crowd warmed to the act at once and when they decided that they would rather be roosters and crow than to be crows and roost the house was theirs.

Mrs. Alma Morgan and her chorus in an orientale number were voted a success from every standpoint. The stage was effectively decorated and the costuming was perhaps the best of any act in the entire show. Mrs. Morgan won her audience with "A Love Song," from the musical comedy, "The Magic Ring," and "Tell Her in the Springtime."

Into the River

Edna Yerxa and Harry E. Long delighted the audience with a clever skit, between the poor working girl with a voice or a working girl with a poor voice and a great English impressario. The p. w. g. was about to drown herself in the Thames and after she had displayed her talent, the E. I. decided that it was better thus.

Two novelty numbers were presented by Tom Shaw. The first was "I'm falling in Love With Someone," with a chorus in girl types, and "Cuddle Up a Little Closer," with DeWitt T. Jones and Muriel Tarr, and Captain and Mrs. J. A. Os in a sylvan setting lighted to produce a silhouette effect.

Captain and Mrs. Osgood were the center of attraction in the "Cuddle Up" number, impersonating a pair of lovers in the happy peaceful afternoon of life. The crowd applauded enthusiastically as soon as they were recognized.

From an artistic standpoint the finest bit of the evening was without doubt the Silhouette Dance, by Miss Thomas, M. Cerxa and Betty Stover. The number was a dainty impersonation of two maids and a man, in a sylvan setting lighted so as to produce a silhouette effect.

Sweet Things

Milton and Harvey Steinberger as Topsy and Eva gave their ideas of how two well behaved little girls should act. They also favored the audience with "Baby Sister Blues."

The Woman's Club came in for its share of the "kidding" in "Wednesday Morning at the Woman's Club," with George Morgridge as Mrs. Stork, R. M. Finlayson as Mrs. Walker, DeWitt T. Jones as Mrs. Steinberger, Oscar Johnson as Mrs. Reess, and Paul Coburn as Eleanor Bayne. The board members used rippling rhymes for the conduct of their business, the dissemination of gossip and the settling of the details of the Wistaria Fete.

Marjorie Rice Ashmore, Howard Lieben and Miss Thomas presented a dramatic song and dance interpretation of an old mission scene which won the audience with its cleverness and beauty. Mrs. Ashmore was the Castilian Senorita and singer, Mr. Lieben the faithless lover and Miss Thomas the dancing girl. They were supported by the chorus and W. S. Hull as the Padre. The song number was "Golandrina."

New Radio Station

Bess Palmer Rhodes was the principal figure in a unique number known as "Broadcasting Station 10U, the Lavender Spot of America." In the capacity of Mrs. Remus, she introduced Jack Buchan, who sang "Sally" in a manner which made many of the ladies present wish they had been named Sally. Harry Middaugh made an excellent young lady with vocal talent. The Bergenstein Brothers Band, the personnel of which was Milton, Harvey, Robert and Guy Steinberger, gave the audience several selections on their instruments. Harold E. Roberts, as Salome brought down the house.

Not to be outdone by the prancing of the pony chorus, a chorus of men gave an exhibition of dancing which surpassed in many ways the work of the girls. The surprising features of the act, however, will be omitted.

The chorus took to the runway at 10:45 and six seconds later the roof began to rise and fall at the top of the club house. The costumes were somewhat abbreviated but as all the dancers were in fine form, no one seemed to mind. The chorus was Harold Roberts, soloist; Frank E. Cox, DeWitt Jones, George Morgridge, W. S. Hull, Harvey Steinberger, Milton Steinberger, W. J. Stevenson, R. M. Finlayson, Harry Middaugh, Ray Grant, Jack Buchan, and Robert Steinberger.

The music of the show was furnished by an orchestra the personnel of which was Mrs. William Murphy, piano; Cleo Rundle, violin; Boyssie Johnstone, saxophone; Hans Seifert, violin; Art Johnson, traps, and Kenneth Cochran, banjo.

DR. WM. C. UPJOHN PASSES AWAY

Dr. William C. Upjohn, 72 years old, died at his home, 71 east Alegria, on Wednesday. Dr. Upjohn had been a resident of Sierra Madre for the last five years, four of which he remained an invalid. Before coming to Sierra Madre he was a well known physician in the east and soon built up a large circle of friends in this city, though he was greatly handicapped by ill health. He was a graduate from the University of Michigan.

He is survived by his widow, Dr. Mary Hoagland Upjohn. Funeral services will be held from the Patterson and McQuillings funeral parlors in Long Beach, Saturday, February 28.

A Lincoln coach belonging to W. L. Chase of Lamanda Park caught fire Wednesday night near the Villa road. A. M. Udell answered the call with a chemical set and saved most of the car from damage.

Gilbert Coldwell of St. John, N. D., is spending a few days in Sierra Madre as the guest of his niece, Mrs.

Grand Master At Laying of Cornerstone

With perfect weather and preliminary arrangements that permitted the ceremonies to move without a hitch, the cornerstone of the new Masonic temple was laid on Saturday by Grand Master David John Reese, of the Grand Lodge of California. He was assisted by a number of other grand lodge officers and visiting Masons of prominence. Past masters of Sierra Madre lodge and visitors were designated to act in the place of Grand Lodge officers who could not attend. The following was the Grand Lodge roster for the occasion:

David John Reese, Grand Master. Leslie M. Renaker, Deputy Gr. Master. Edward Brunner, Senior Gr. Warden. Charles M. Wollenburg, Jr. Gd. War. William J. Stewart, Gr. Treasurer. John Whicher, Gr. Secretary. Thomas J. Baker, Gr. Lecturer. Robert I. Taylor, Gr. Chaplain. Samuel Edgerton Burke, Gr. Orator. Frederick Baker, Asst. Gr. Secretary. Warren Gill, Gr. Marshal.

Carlton Pegler, Gr. Standard Bearer. Max Venable, Gr. Sword Bearer. Willard Evans, Gr. Bible Bearer. Jacob Bashor, Senior Gr. Deacon. George Morgridge, Jr. Gr. Deacon. Martin H. Bridle, Sr. Gr. Steward. Ernest L. Yerxa, Jr. Gr. Steward. J. A. Patterson, Gr. Pursuivant. Francis D. R. Moote, Gr. Organist. James M. Steinberger, Gr. Tiler. DeWitt T. Jones, Brother with Corn. Harold McMillan, Brother with Wine. Charles W. Jones, Brother with Oil.

The ceremonies began with the opening of Grand Lodge in the hall of Sierra Madre lodge, after which the procession formed to march to the new temple. This procession was headed by a uniformed escort of Knights Templar from the newly formed commandery at Monrovia. With them were a number of resident Knights. Then followed Master Masons and officers of Sierra Madre Lodge No. 408. The Grand Lodge officers marched in the rear.

Tribute to Loyalty

Instead of stopping at the temple, the procession marched east to Sierra Place, making the turn in front of the house of Sir Knight Allen T. Gay who was able to sit up in front of the window after a long illness, and who has been keenly interested in the Masonic order and the temple enterprise. This act of thoughtfulness was warmly commended by Grand Master Reese in his opening remarks.

It was cause for deep gratification to the local Masons that Grand Master Reese could officiate at the ceremonies, because of the interest he has shown in their lodge. Having exchanged visits with his home lodge at Ventura, they feel a more than ordinarily close acquaintance and attachment for him.

At the temple a temporary rostrum had been arranged by Contractor Shearer on the front porch foundation for the Grand Lodge and officers, with benches for the public. The lodge members stood near the cornerstone so they could participate in the ritual work. Donald C. Ashmore, master of the lodge, to whose care and hard work the smooth working program was due, opened the ceremonies and introduced the Grand Master, who then took charge.

Ceremony Is Explained

Grand Master Reese added interest to the ritual work by explaining something of the historical and symbolic background of the ceremony. His address made a deep impression on his hearers, bringing many expressions of approval after the ceremonies. In applying the mason's implements, the trowel, the plumb, square and level, to the setting of the stone, he pointed out, a foundation was laid in accordance with the principles of truth, rectitude, justice and brotherly love. The building resting thereon must be the means of service to humanity in accordance with those principles if it is to justify its erection.

Dr. Samuel E. Burke of Los Angeles, Past Grand Master, is always a welcome visitor in Sierra Madre and his address as grand orator was one of the best he has ever given here. He spoke of the pleasure he had felt on numerous past visits to Sierra Madre lodge and of the anticipation he enjoyed for the future with their new home so near a reality. His address was full of inspiration and deeply impressed his hearers.

Secretary John Whicher read a list of the contents of the sealed copper box which was placed in the stone by W. J. Stewart, acting as grand treasurer. The list included the Holy Bible, the book of constitutions of (Continued on Last Page)

Pomona Gets Near Its Goal In Campaign

On the last day of the campaign for Pomona College in the Pomona city district and the first day in the Upland and Ontario district, a total of $62,032 was reported.

The Pomona College Building and Endowment Campaign secured the $800,000 needed to meet the conditional gift of $400,000 from the General Education Board before December 1. After an interval for the holidays the campaigns in the twelve districts of California are being resumed, and the city of Pomona has led off with gifts totalling $38,811 pledged during the last three days. When complete returns are in, between $40,000 and $50,000 is expected. An outstanding feature of the campaign in the city of Pomona is the fact that every one of the 65 Pomona college graduates in the district made a pledge on the first day of the campaign.

Due to the presence of a few special benefactors of Pomona college the totals from the Chaffey district, comprising Upland, Ontario and the surrounding communities is sure to surpass that from the city of Pomona.

With more than half of the total goal of $3,000,000 already pledged by friends in the immediate vicinity of the college, Pomona College expects that the remaining 11 districts of California will complete the total goal which has been set by the General Education Board as necessary for the completion of the present unit of Pomona College and the opening of the doors for some of the additional students who are now turned away.

Conserve Is Message of Club Meeting

(Mrs. Elmer A. Green, Press Cor.)

On Wednesday, Feb. 25, the meeting of the Sierra Madre Woman's club opened with singing of America the Beautiful. Following this, Mrs. J. Glenwood Jones read a sincere tribute to Washington. This tribute to our first president hangs in the hallway of his beautiful home of Mt. Vernon, where Mrs. Jones found it and thoughtfully copied it for future use.

Tom Henderson told in a few minutes of what is being done in Sierra Madre to conserve the water supply and to check up on every leak. The system of meters used in Sierra Madre is very efficient. The cost of pumping water has been greatly reduced in the last four years and the construction of new reservoirs shows us that a great deal of work along right lines is being done.

Fire Warning

A. M. Udell warned us of a bad season ahead unless greatest precautions are taken. As the rain has come this winter—gently—it has made the grass and weeds grow rapidly and these when they dry are a great menace and very inflammable. In looking to the future a great step has been taken, he feels, inasmuch as there is to be at once begun the teaching of forestry in the public schools. Educating the young is the only hope of safety in the future.

James N. Shaw was given only a few minutes but he made a deep and stirring appeal to all to help establish the Mission Play in San Gabriel as a California institution. Mr. McGroarty, he feels, has made the greatest contribution to the history of California of any one who ever lived, and so should receive the help and support of every one in placing the Mission Play on a firm foundation so that it may be a perpetual institution to the glory of Southern California.

Miss Catherine Mitchell of Chicago told very delightfully of the great work that is being done along the lines of National Conservation. Perhaps the greatest advance in Conservation work has been, she says, in the cooperation of the different branches of conservation. Much has been done recently to protect the breeding places of migratory birds and forbidding the sale of wild flowers. It would have been interesting indeed to have heard Miss Mitchell go deeper into her subject.

Oldest Living Things

very beautiful slides of the Redwoods—the oldest living things in the world, the only things that outlived the Glacial Period. Mrs. Meeker as her pictures were being shown told of the wonderful impression one gets when driving through the groves of great trees. The spirit of romance is upon everyone. They are a priceless heritage and must be preserved for all time.

E. J. Webster of Alegria street kindly loaned the projecting machine through which these pictures were shown.

The Memorial Redwood Fund was started two years ago and every person in California was asked to contribute one dollar to save these wonderful trees from the sawmills. A great deal has been done along these lines by some clubs but we are chagrined to say the Sierra Madre Woman's club has fallen down terribly on her obligation in this matter. As a club we voted to do our part, each and every one of us, to contribute $1.00 to the Redwood Fund, and few indeed are the dollars that have been sent in.

Through Miss Bush's efforts a very lovely painting of a giant redwood, the work of a local artist, Mr. Potter, was hung in the auditorium during the program.

At the adjournment of the meeting tea was delightfully served by the ladies of the hospitality committee.

The program for the day was in charge of Mrs. E. D. Burbank.

"ONE MOMENT, PLEASE."

(Kansas City Star)

In business and telephoning the busy man is in the habit of delegating to some member of his office force the making of connections with the person sought. When the person finally is reached, probably through the official call taker in some other office, then come, "One moment, please," and the person sought is "hung up" awaiting the convenience of the person seeking the interview.

Who should do the waiting, the person calling or the person called? obviously, the person calling. A small matter, perhaps, but it is bad tact to make an appointment with any one and keep the other person waiting, whether it be on the telephone or elsewhere. Bad tact, to say the least.

Square Deal Is Asked on State Roads

Sentiment in Southern California

for a square deal in any future highway program was crystalized at the meeting recently held at the headquarters of the Automobile Club of Southern California in Los Angeles. To present the case of the motorist before the people at large, President W. L. Valentine of the Automobile Club invited some 300 representative citizens from the thirteen Southern counties to attend a highway conference.

It developed that the position taken by the Automobile Club relative to tax increase on motorists and a future highway program was endorsed by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and the Motor Car Dealers Association as fair and equitable.

Briefly the motoring organization contends:

Paid More Than Received

That the past highway program has given Southern California only about 34 per cent of the expenditures for state highway development and about the same percentage of the state highway maintenance fund, when approximately 50 per cent of all money for construction are raised in the thirteen Southern counties.

Strong opposition also is manifested toward the proposed legislation that will include some $117,000,000 worth of new roads in the 6,524 miles of the state system, when there remains $214,000,000 worth of work to be done before the 6,524 miles are completed.

The Automobile Club sets forth that it is contending for a more equitable plan of financing, a standard of measurement that shall determine which roads shall be built by the state and which by the district benefited, a plan of improvement in accordance with travel demands, and a better plan of finance.

The figures quoted show that

Out of Balance

Southern California is on the same basis in the allocation of roads that it was placed in 1909 when the first bond issue for highways was voted. At this time the proposition of one-third to two-thirds between south and north was approximately correct, but in the intervening years Southern California has attained at least half the population, half the taxable wealth and more than half of the vehicles to be served by roads.

The highway conference was highly representative in that it included 20 legislators, 35 county surveyors, 65 newspaper publishers, 69 chamber of commerce officials, in addition to mayors of cities and other public officials directly interested in the proposed highway legislation.

At the conclusion of the meeting President Valentine invited all present to express their personal views and those of their constituents in letters to the Automobile Club of Southern California, which organization, he said, is earnestly striving to reach an equitable and reasonable plan for a state highway program that may conscientiously be supported by the people at large and be free from the domination of local interests and political expediency.

DEATH TAKES WRITER AS HE WAITS FOR CAR

(From The Temple Times)

George H. Fitch, a retired newspaper man, dropped dead this morning while waiting for the 8 o'clock car to Los Angeles at the Pacific Electric station at Baldwin avenue.

Fitch, who for many years was an editorial writer on the San Francisco Chronicle, but who had lived here the past five years, seemed to be in his usual health this morning. None of the persons at the station noticed anything wrong with him until he suddenly toppled over from the station seat dead. Death was due to heart disease.

Dr. J. M. Rogers, a physician, whose office is close by, was called, but Fitch was dead when he arrived.

The body was taken to his home on Camino Real. Fitch was 72 years of age and was born in New York, but came to California with his parents when a year old. Ten years ago he retired and five years ago came here to make his home with a cousin, Mrs. Amelia White. He has no other living relatives. The body will be sent to San Francisco for burial.

Gas Service-Not GAS

We speak of various kinds of service, mail service, train service, telephone service. Why not Gas Service?

Gas service is what you buy, use and pay for, not merely GAS.

Gas without service is a mere vapor. With the service rendered by your company it becomes the finest of fuels, clean, reliable and economical. And what's more, it is ready when you want it.

The term "gas bill" is misleading. It should be "bill for gas service."

EDITORIAL COMMENT

DAWES PLAN INDEFINITE

Probably no important development since the world war is more misunderstood by people at large than the Dawes plan of German reparations. Many seem to think that it provides a definite amount that Germany should pay, but it does nothing of the kind.

The Dawes plan merely provides an easy way for Germany to make a beginning to pay, also fixes a maximum yearly payment, to be reached several years later—provided these payments can be met without disturbing German exchange.

No one can tell for four or five years whether the Dawes plan will work or not. It may even work for ten years and then break down, because the plan provides that German payments may be suspended whenever the stability of German exchange is endangered.

Besides, in order to induce Germany to accept the plan, she was given a new loan of more than enough to meet her first year's payments. So, while Germany has made some payments, they have merely been made from money borrowed from private sources in the allied countries, including the United States, England and France.

Whatever Germany pays during the next few years will be credited on the sum decided upon in the annual settlements, of course, but the ultimate amount of total reparations has not been fixed and may not be definitely fixed for several years.

The Dawes plan gives Germany a breathing spell and is a step in the direction of a final settlement, but it is only a step and may have to be greatly modified from time to time.

IDEAS DO CHANGE

When it is realized that the human race has been developing for probably half a million years, the changes in ideas during even one or two centuries seem revolutionary. It may be remembered that a king of Spain once refused to sanction the proposition to cut a canal across the isthmus of Panama, on the ground that the Almighty made that neck of land connecting North and South America and that it would be sinful to divide the continents by a canal.

Coming closer to our own times, it is recorded that as late as 1832, when a group of men in Lancaster, Ohio, asked for permission for use of the school house, in which to hold a meeting to promote the building of a railroad, the school board replied by letter as follows:

"You are at liberty to use the school house to hold meetings for all proper purposes. But railroads and telegraphs are impossible and rank infidelity. If God had intended His intelligent creatures should travel at the frightful speed of 16 miles an hour, He would have clearly foretold it in the Holy Prophets. It is a device of Satan to lead immortal souls down to hell."

These ideas seem ridiculous to us today, but we shall cling to many superstitions which the intelligent person of 2025 will think equally amusing.

In spite of all the publicity of the international conferences, it seems rather difficult to get the right dope on the opium traffic.

Has anyone heard of those people who wanted the world to come to an end, carrying out their own desires?

People who are too superstitious to do anything on Friday, the 13th, would have to take a month's vacation during the last month of the year if the proposal for a 13-month year were put into effect.

With three million square miles in the United States it seems rather difficult sometimes to account for the scarcity of parking space.

CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

The Child Labor Amendment to the constitution is not lost merely because more than a fourth of the state legislatures have refused to ratify it. There is no limitation on the time within which the necessary three-fourths of the states must ratify. After an amendment has been submitted to the states by congress there is no provision in the constitution for its withdrawal. It is not like a bill in congress which must be passed during the term in which it is introduced or expire automatically. In the states which have refused to ratify any amendment any subsequent legislature may reverse the action and add that state's approval.

"A SAINTED DEVIL"

IF you liked Rudolph Valentino in "Monsieur Beaucaire," you will love him in "A Sainted Devil." The scenes in "A Sainted Devil" are laid in the Argentine, in the elaborate palaces of the nobility, in the picturesque haunts of the lower classes and in the rugged mountain fastnesses of that romantic land. You will see the ever popular Rudy as "Don Alonzo," son of a millionaire, engaged to be married to the lovely "Julietta" (Helen D'Algy). Fired by the jealousy of the tiger-woman, "Carlotta" (Nita Naldi), a bandit band sweeps down from the mountain haunt and kidnaps "Julietta" in the midst of the wedding revelries. How "Don Alonzo," who has been well nigh mortally wounded in the fight for his bride, vows a terrible vengeance upon her abductors; how later, believing "Julietta" unfaithful, he becomes the sworn enemy of the fair sex and uses them as his playthings, one after the other; how finally, learning the truth and clashing with the bandit chief whom he has been seeking for years, "Don Alonzo" at last attains happiness—all this is revealed in a sumptuously produced photoplay of a hundred heart-thrills and thrills

Fine Bill at Wistaria Next Week

Rudolph Valentino's new Paramount picture, "A Sainted Devil," from the story, "Rope's End," by Rex Beach, is the feature next Monday and Tuesday at the Wistaria theater. Nita Naldi, Helen D'Algy, Dagmar Godowsky, Louise Lagrange, George Siegman, are a few of the big names which appear in the powerful supporting cast of this production—a story laid in the Argentine which tells of the country-wide search of a young Spaniard of wealthy parents for his convent-bred bride who is stolen from him on their wedding night by bandits.

Here's a picture combining all the gorgeousness of "Monsieur Beaucaire" and all the action of "Blood and Sand" into one great story. "A Sainted Devil" is to our mind the greatest Valentino production of them all, by far.

Eddie Cline, who directed Viola Dana's newest picture for Metro, "Along Came Ruth," which will be shown at the Wistaria on Wednesday and Thursday, certainly ought to be well educated. He has attended no less than fifty schools.

It happened this way: When Eddie was a little boy in Kenosha, Wis., he decided to make his way in the world, and see the world at the same time. So he got a job selling songs, traveling from town to town. Since it was necessary for him to go to school, he had to change every time he went to a new town and that meant about every three months.

If a thing is invisible, can you see it? Sounds silly, perhaps, but it represents a job that required a great deal of ingenuity on the part of the Fairbanks Technical staff in making "The Thief of Bagdad" which comes to the Wistaria Friday, March 6, for a three-day engagement. The Cloak of Invisibility, which has caused a great deal of comment, is supposed to render its wearer invisible. It was necessary, however, that the audience have some idea of the exact location of this cloak even during the moments that it is invisible. How this could be done, presented a pretty problem. The solution of it is an entrancing optical subtlety. You see the cloak thrown over the shoulder of its owner, and lo! he disappears, but as he moves about, under the cloak, there is a vague, shadowy shape which you can follow with your eyes, but it is so elusive and ethereal a thing that you cannot be sure even of what you see.

The colored janitor of a church in St. Louis had a violent temper. He was converted, but sometimes his temper would get the best of his good resolutions. On one occasion when he was repenting of one of his lapses he made this prayer after he had asked the Lord to forgive him: "O Lord, prop me up on the leaning side."—Christian Witness.

Traffic Law Cutting Down Loss of Life

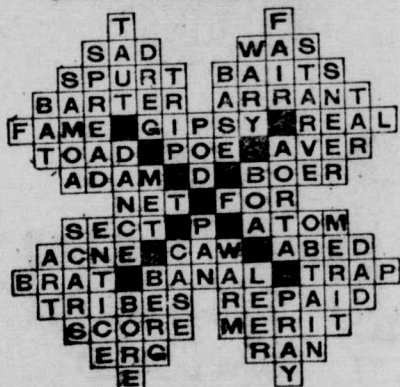

Since the installation of the new traffic laws in Los Angeles, it is interesting to note that deaths through motor vehicle accidents there have decreased almost one-half in the comparison of January of this year with the first month of 1924.

This decline, reported by the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California, is believed due in large part to observance of the jaywalking and traffic ordinances. Auto accidents, the report shows, caused 12 fatalities in January, 1925, while 23 are recorded for the first month of last year.

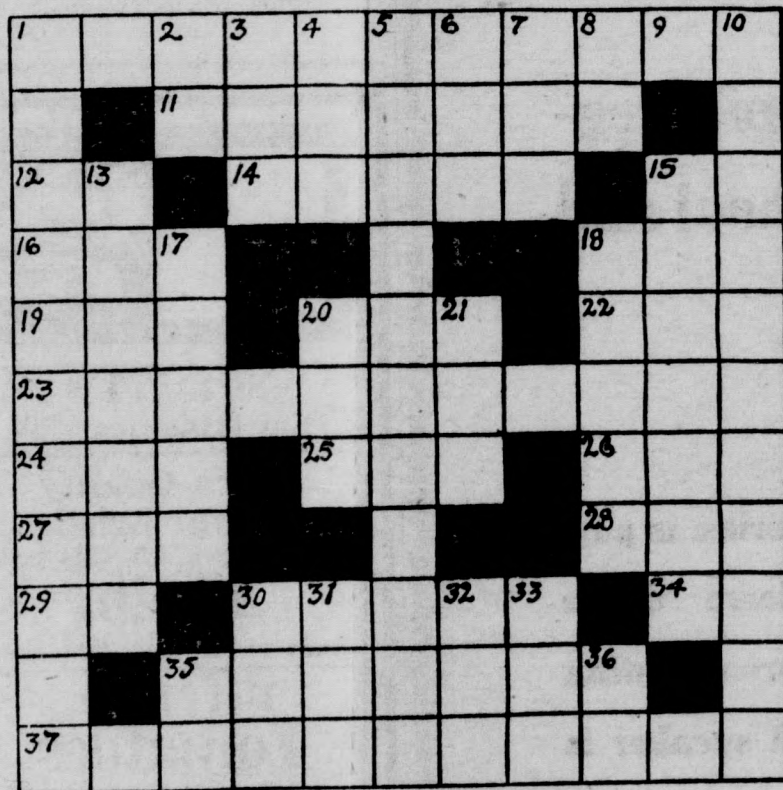

Fatalities among pedestrians crossing streets elsewhere than at crosswalks totalled two last month as compared with seven for January of a year ago. One death is recorded for last month through crossing a street carelessly, although three fatalities came under this heading during January, 1924. Another favorable indication is that no fatalities resulted through pedestrians becoming confused in traffic during January of this year, although there were three from this cause last year in that month.

Fused quartz, recently perfected, is the most transparent solid substance known, a meter of it transmitting 92 per cent of the light passing through it, while the best optical glass transmits only 65 per cent and ordinary glass only 35 per cent.

ALONG LIFE'S TRAIL

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois

THE PASSING OF ROMANCE

IT WAS a picturesque road which, when I was a child, we took from our house to the village. It wound along a pleasant valley between wooded slopes, across stony-bottomed streams where one could hear the pleasant grinding of the wheels upon the rocks and the splashing of the water upon the horses' bodies as one crossed. There were long hills to go down, and at the end the river with its high wooden bridge.

It was a road full of surprises, with open glades bordering it at times, followed by thick wooded stretches where the branches of the trees met overhead and where even at noon time the sun never pierced the gloom. In the more open spaces sumac with its bright scarlet fruit flourished, and bittersweet hung in bright orange clusters from the vines that covered the trees. Spring or fall it was a flower-bordered road. Bluebells and hawthorne and wild crab apples in the spring, and asters and sunflowers and goldenrod in the fall made a riot of color everywhere, and fairy toadstools were everywhere.

Sometimes we were late in leaving the village, and then it was a road of mystery. It curved so sharply that one could never see far ahead or be sure of what one was going to meet. Whippoorwills were calling high in the air, owls were hooting back in the shadows of the trees, and far away one could hear the bark of a timber wolf. Mysterious will-o'-the-wisp at intervals shone through the darkness. I crept closer to father and wondered what was hidden back in the unexplored forest.

Now everything is changed. The woods have been cut down and turned into pasture land. Sumac and wild flowers have disappeared. Woven wire has taken the place of the old stake-and-rider fence. A wide concrete road runs from our place to the village—straight, level, insulatingly and dazzlingly white to the eyes. The little hills have all been leveled. Automobiles race over it in a mad rush to get somewhere, with no time for the beautiful if it were there. Beauty has given way to utility. We must get somewhere quickly. Romance has vanished.

Scarcely a week goes by without someone reporting some good results from the use of News wantads. Last week Mrs. Marguerite Hoegee advertised the loss of a small Eastern Star pin and requested the finder to return it to the News office or to her home. Yesterday afternoon upon returning home after a brief absence she found the pin in her letter box. The finder had wrapped it carefully and taken it to her house and, not finding her at home, left it without any indication of his or her identity. Mrs. Hoegee wants the finder to know she is very grateful.

At the close of the ceremonies, the procession was formed for return to the lodge hall and formal closing of order were then invited down stairs where they were served with delicious coffee and cakes by the Eastern Star ladies. The committee appointed by Mrs. Clyde Muskrath, the matron, was headed by Mrs. H. F.

Roberts. Cherry boutonniers given
